

Young Drivers' Future Training Needs

The 3rd NTU Traffic and Transport Psychology Symposium

July 8, 2022

SCHEDULE

- 9.30 Arrival, tea and coffee
- 9.45 Welcome
- 9.50 Opening address – Prof. Daragh McDermott
- 10.00 Young drivers' perceptions of their training needs – Prof. David Crundall, NTU
- 10.30 Automation and the Human Factor – Dr. Claire Williams, Williams Consultants Ltd.
- 11.00 Project Pascal – A 'Guide2Autonomy' & the future of driver training – Ian Fido, Head of Training, RED Driver Training
- 11.30 Driver Training for Future Vehicles – Prof. Gary Burnett, University of Nottingham
- 12.00 Lunch
- 12.45 Training for the safe activation of AVs matters: revealing the benefits of online training to creating glaringly better mental models - Siobhan Merriman, University of Southampton
- 13.15 The Role of Intelligent Speed Assistance in Young Driver Road Safety – Prof. Richard Rowe, University of Sheffield
- 13.45 The future of the driving test and driver training - Graham O'Brien, Assistant Chief Driving Examiner, DVSA
- 14.15 Modelling newly qualified drivers' behaviours in the first six months post licensure – Dr. Damian Poulter, University of Greenwich
- 14.45 Break
- 15.00 Hazard awareness training in virtual reality – Dr. Victoria Kroll, CEO, Esitu Solutions
- 15.30 The impact of driving anxiety on the ability to drive- Dr. Petya Ventsislavova, Nottingham Trent University
- 16.00 The Real-World Perspective: Connected and Autonomous Vehicles - Iain West-Moore RED Driver Training
- 16.30 Close